New York, Feb. 22.—Twenty-nine full blood Indian chiefs from western reservations, bedecked in the regalia of their rank, marched stolidly up the hill at Fort Wadsworth, State Island, today with their "great white father," President Taft, and members of the official family. At the crest of the hill, the highest point on the Atlantic coast between New York and Florida, they formed a silent group as the president upturned a spadeful of earth, breaking ground for the National American Indian Memorial, a sixty foot bronze statue of an Indian warrior which will tower 165 feet above the highest elevation around New York harbor, a tribute to a vanishing race.

The guns of the fort roared a national salute of 21 guns at the moment the president placed his foot on the spade. As he stepped back, Chief Hollow Horn Bear, of the Yankton Sioux, came forward from the group and upturned a second bit of earth with the thighbone of a buffalo. That done, the chief replied with a speech to an address by the president.

As Hollow Horn Bear's voice died away, the stars and stripes were run up a great flag-pole nearby, to the rhythm of Indian folk songs, sung by the chiefs. When it reached the top, the band broke out with "The Star Spangled Banner."

The gathering of Indians marked the last time, perhaps, that so many native chiefs will assemble in the east. Most of them are between 75 and 80 years old. Some of them fought against Custer, among these being Chief Hollow Horn Bear, who stands six feet four inches tall, and Chief White-Man-Runs-Him, more than 70 years old, tall, straight as a pine tree and one of the finest specimens of the Indian alive today. White-Man-Runs-Him was chief of the Custer scouts. Others were Chief Two Moons, 80, nearly blind and almost hidden by feathers, speaking his prowess; and Pretty Voice Eagle of the Sioux, 70-odd, who carries in his body 21 bullets picked up in 70 fights and skirmishes with government troops and neighboring tribes.

A distinguished gathering witnessed the memorial ceremonies. The plan had its inception several years ago. The monument is being erected under authority of that congress, by a committee of which Roman Wamaker is the head.

FINGER OF TIME TRACES "FINIS" ON PUBLIC RECORD OF WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT

New York, Feb. 22.—President Taft is spending Washington's birthday in New York, making what are probably his last public appearances outside of Washington before retirement from the presidency. He arrived from Washington shortly after 7 o'clock this morning and before the city was astir he and his party were driven to the home of his brother, Henry W. Taft, for breakfast. Mrs. Taft and her sister, Mrs. Thomas Laughlin, accompanied the president, as did Major Rhodes, his aide, and Charles D. Hilles, his secretary. Three events were on the president's program for the day and evening. The first of these was at Fort Wadsworth, on Staten Island, overlooking the harbor entrance, where ground was to be broken for a memorial to the American Indian, which may some day displace the Statue of Liberty as the first monument to be seen by voyagers arriving at this port. Chiefs representing 15 tribes of Indians arrived last night from western reservations to see the president turn the first spadeful of earth for the monument. They appeared in full regalia and a number of them were to have something to say of their passing race. Rain had threatened to mar the ceremonies, but at daybreak the weather was no worse than damp from last night's rain and clouds.

The afternoon feature of the president's program is in the interests of the blind, a charitable work to which he has often lent his aid here. This was to be the dedication of a new institution for these afflicted persons, known as "the light-house." Joseph H. Choate, Helen Keller and other well-known persons will participate in these exercises. Tonight the president will conclude his double engagements here as the guest at a testimonial reception and dinner under the auspices of the American Peace and Arbitration league. At the dinner the gold medal of the National Institute of Social Sciences will be presented to the president in recognition of his notable efforts on behalf of universal peace.

State Meeting of Christian Endeavorers in Lima in June.

The preliminary arrangements for the holding in Lima of the Ohio State Christian Endeavor convention were thoroughly discussed at a meeting and a rally that was held last evening at the Olivet Presbyterian church. There were a large number present, including State Secretary Hing and President T. C. Lawrence, of Cleveland.

There were several courses to the meeting last night, one wherein the state president and the state secretary met the general convention committee, and there was another wherein the junior superintendents met with Mrs. Charles Hutchinson, of Toledo, state superintendent of junior departments.

There was then the main, or big meeting with a prearranged program. At this meeting the most of the real work of the evening was done, principally through the talks of the state officers. Mr. Poling in his remarks was most encouraging to the city of Lima, and finished, leaving all present with the impression that their city was big enough to do a good job of entertaining. In the course of his remarks Mr. Poling remarked that it cost six thousand dollars to entertain this convention in Cleveland last year.

This convention will attract to Lima in June over six hundred persons, representing religious societies in each and every part of the state. It is thought that there will be over six thousand here. It is thought that this convention will be by far the finest and the largest in the history of the organization. The principals now thing that they will be able to bring Mr. Percy Foster to Lima to lead the music at this time. Mr. Foster is the man who has had charge of the music at the last three presidential inaugurations. One year ago it cost about thirty-eight hundred dollars to entertain this convention in Cleveland, but it is hoped that two thousand will suffice

A very large number of Lima people will be greatly grieved to learn of the death yesterday at 1 o'clock in Ada, Ohio, of Mrs. L. F. Anspach. Mrs. Anspach has been sick for some time with an acute attack of Bright's disease. Though not unexpected, the shock of her death is none the less great.

Mrs. Anspach was a daughter of Mrs. Eliza J. Grafton and a sister of Mrs. Ed. Kirk. The latter with her husband has gone to Ada. The deceased leaves to mourn her loss her husband and five children.

The funeral services will be held from the late residence in Ada at two o'clock Sunday afternoon. Interment will be made in the Ada cemetery.

The hand of death has fallen heavily upon another home, and another mother has been summoned to the great beyond. Mrs. Elizabeth Light passed away at the city hospital this morning shortly after four o'clock. Her illness has been of but brief duration, and the sudden call of the angel fell with no uncertain shock. Mrs. Light has made a great sacrifice, but even this was in vain.

Mrs. Light, the wife of A. P. Light, was born in Columbus Grove, Ohio, on the first day of January, 1864, and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Crawford. She made her early home in Columbus Grove, coming to Lima at the time of her marriage, and her husband making their home at 526 Hazel avenue. She is survived by her father, B. F. Crawford, of Columbus Grove, by one sister, Mrs. Phoebe Steele, of Columbus Grove, by her bereaved husband and two small children. No funeral arrangements have been made save only that the burial will be made at Columbus Grove.

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 22.—Governor Gonzales virtually is held a prisoner in Chihuahua city. It is reported today that Gonzales was prevented by regular troops from leaving the state capital and combining the various Madero factions of Chihuahua. Gonzales was a strong supporter of Madero's revolution and always remained a loyal Maderista.

Not All Served.

Mexico City, Feb. 22.—Acceptance of the new administration in Mexico is not so general as was at first thought. To the states of Coahuila, Sonora and Yucatan, which from the moment of the overthrow of Francisco Madero declared they were not in accord with the new conditions must now be added part of the state of Oaxaca, where the Ferran Indians have refused to recognize the government of Provisional President Huerta. The governor of Oaxaca is so alarmed by the disturbed conditions in the state capital that he has asked for reinforcements from Mexico City. Between the federal capital and the port of Vera Cruz conditions are very uncertain. Bodies of federal troops have been sent to the cities of Jalapa and Orizaba in the state of Vera Cruz to maintain the balance of power.

The Indians in the state of Oaxaca have gone on the war path from personal motives. Felix Diaz is a native of that state and the Indians declare that inasmuch as he has not been made president of the republic, it is necessary to appoint a provisional president, Fidelmo Hernandez, another native of Oaxaca, who has had a very distinguished army career should be nominated in no case say the Indians will they recognize General Huerta provisional president.

The disturbances which have broken out in the state of Vera Cruz are supposed to indicate that the support the new administration has gained in that state is questionable. A small group of sympathizers with Francisco Madero stopped a train on which was believed to be fleeing from the federal capital to the coast with the object of rescuing the deposed president. The news reached General Robert Velasco at the city of Vera Cruz to whom it was reported that the venture had been successful. He thereupon loaded a number of trains with troops and rushed them to Orizaba to fight under the banner of the fallen president. The new government under General Huerta was informed of the movement and a force of federal troops was sent off post haste from the federal capital to Orizaba and on reaching there surrounded and disarmed the men commanded by General Velasco.

GREAT GOBS OF STICKY MUD THROWN ON HEADQUARTERS OF ANTI-SUFFRAGET WOMEN

Washington, Feb. 22.—Anti-suffragist headquarters here today was busy with indignation over what the women opposed to universal suffrage intimated was the adoption of military tactics by the suffragists. They pointed to the existence of quantities of mud which had been flung on the windows of their headquarters and which formed large and unsightly lumps on the front walls.

The suffragists as indignantly denied they had any hand in the affair. They declared that they would constantly decline to engage in any such controversy with those opposed to the "cause."

"This is a woman's movement," said Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the procession committee of the suffragists, "and we will not attack any woman, even with words. If the women opposed to suffrage choose to attack us, that is their business."

As an evidence of their good faith Miss Gillett, treasurer of the suffragist procession committee, and several other suffragists at national headquarters, paid a social call on Miss Minnie Bronson, who is in charge of the anti-suffragist camp. The anti-suffragists may return the call today.

the Knights of Pythias last evening. There were nearly all of the delegates of the district who had come to Lima for the convention at the banquet.

The morning session of the convention had been mostly devoted to the registration of the delegates and the matter of arrangements. In the afternoon the real work and business of the session was done. Reports were made, and every topic in this district was heard from. In the evening the Continental degree team conferred the sister rank upon Miss Mary Blackburn, daughter of J. W. Blackburn, county deputy of the K. of P. By the same team W. A. Fisher was given the work of the knight.

At the banquet table Mrs. Iva Stumo presided as the toastmistress. She introduced the following speakers: W. B. Richie, past supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of the World, Rev. J. J. Miller, Mrs. Cora B. Hutchinson, Mrs. Mrs. Jelly, Mrs. R. A. Buchanan, Mrs. Anna Evans, and Mrs. Mary Smith. A very clever entertainment followed the banquet. The Pythian orchestra furnished delightful music. Mrs. Sarah Ebersole and Mrs. R. H. Ebersole sang solos and a duet, and a most enjoyable time ensued. The Lima drill team then put on some feature work.

to President Taft, on Request.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Secretary Nagel has made a report to President Taft on the official conduct of Daniel J. Keefe of Detroit, commissioner general of immigration and has recommended that Keefe's resignation be demanded.

The report alleges that the head of the immigration service has accepted free transportation for himself and family from railroads and steamships. These alleged acts were considered by Secretary Nagel as sufficiently serious to be called to the president's attention because the commissioner general of immigration necessarily deals officially with railroads and steamships in connection with immigration cases.

It is not known whether President Taft will take any action. He may leave the case for the consideration of President Wilson in view of the few remaining days of his administration. Secretary Nagel will not discuss the situation. He made his investigation and submitted his report to the president some time ago.

Keefe was appointed commissioner general of immigration in November, 1908 for an indefinite term. He was formerly president of the International Longshoremen's union and sixth vice president of the American Federation of Labor.

Manager Marty Hogan, of Zanesville, is anxious to secure the services of Otto Blake, the crack infielder who has played several years with Zanesville clubs. Blake has signed a contract with Terre Haute. He lives at Mt. Vernon where he signs the voting register as Charles Sapp, his real name.

MARSHALL FUNERAL.

The funeral services over the remains of the late William Marshall will be held at the late residence at 524 east Market street, on Monday afternoon at two o'clock. The Rev. Stiles will have charge of the services, and the Mart Armstrong Post of the G. A. R. will hold their funeral service. The remains will be laid to rest in the mausoleum at Woodlawn cemetery.

MYSTERY OF DOUBLE DEATH ON EVE OF WEDDING DAY ABOUT TO BE CLEARED UP

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 22.—The mystery of the death of Charles Twigg and Grace Blosser in a room of the Blosser home on the last day of December, 1910, which was the eve of the proposed marriage of the couple is believed to have been solved. Mrs. Marshall Willson and her sister, Mrs. Pearl Mangold, the present occupants of the house in which the Twigg-Blosser tragedy occurred two years ago were over-coming yesterday by carbon monoxide gas. The two women were rescued by a neighbor who rushed in and dragged them to the open air thus generated.

GREAT SEA OF BUNTING PROCLAIMS TO WORLD THIS DAY IS HALLOWED

Washington, Feb. 22.—The national capital today is one great picture of waving flags in honor of Washington's birthday. A large number of patriotic celebrations are on the program beginning with memorial services by the Knights of Columbus at the Catholic University and the services conducted by the Sons of the Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution this morning followed by similar services by patriotic and state organizations throughout the day. The tomb of Washington at Mount Vernon was a mecca to which many hundreds made their way and the great stones beneath which rest the first president and Mrs. Washington literally were buried beneath the flowers strewn upon them.

The wheels of the government activity are at a standstill in recognition of the day, with the exception of the two houses of congress, which content themselves because of the heavy pressure of unfinished business, with the reading of Washington's famous farewell address. In the senate Senator Brandegee of Connecticut was selected to read it.

The all-day session of the twelfth annual convention of the fourth district of Ohio, Pythian Sisters, was fittingly brought to a close by a most delightful banquet at the hall of

AT THE ORPHEUM.
All Week—Vaudeville.

AT THE LYRIC.
All Week—Barrett Players.

The most notable event during the past week in the local theatrical world was the engagement of the Aborn English Grand Opera company Monday evening at the Faurot Opera House. The opera sung on this, the third visit of an Aborn Company to this city this season, was "Madame Butterfly," and it was given with the same standard of excellence as has characterized the Aborn productions that have been produced in this city before.

The cast was a notable one, and the evening was one of genuine delight to the lover of good music. Lima is indeed fortunate to be included in the list of cities in which the Aborn companies will play at least once each season, and the extensive repertoire, which includes all modern and classic operas, will insure a variety of entertainments during the coming seasons.

Three high class attractions are filled at the Faurot next week, two of which have been seen in this city before and both of which were well received on the occasion of their first visits.

On Tuesday evening, Henry W. Savage, the noted producer, will send to the Faurot Otis Harlan, the famous comedian, and an excellent supporting company, in the romantic operetta by Rudolph Schanzer and Carl Lindan, "Little Boy Blue." The company appearing here is exactly the same as appeared at the Chicago Opera House for several weeks recently, and includes some of the most noted stars in the light operatic world. One of the most enjoyable features of the play is the melody of Scottish airs sung by the principals and the beautiful "Highland Lassies" chorus.

Wednesday evening, local theatre-goers will welcome an old favorite in "The Fortune Hunter," one of the most successful comedies of the present case, which plays to capacity business at the Faurot last season.

"Brewster's Millions" after an absence of five years from Lima, will return to the Faurot next Saturday afternoon and evening performance. This comedy was the first attraction played by Manager Cunningham when he took charge of the Faurot over five years ago, and made an excellent impression. The story is well known to all readers of fiction, and should prove a big drawing card.

This week was the first week of the Orpheum under the management of Mr. Wheeler who succeeded former Manager Forman last Saturday. Judging from the attendance during the week the little playhouse will continue to prosper under the new management as it has done in the past. Both bills were quite good, and drew large crowds during the week.

The Barrett Players at the Lyric Theatre scored another genuine success in "The Liar," the first three days of the week, and standing room was at a premium during the five performances of the old favorite, "St. Elmo," which was presented at the north Main street playhouse on the last three days of the week. The Barrett Players are firmly established in the hearts of the Lyric clientele, and will remain here until the close of the season.

Beginning Monday evening, they will offer the big comedy scenario, "The Lottery Man," which drew a packed house when presented by a travelling company at the Faurot two seasons ago. "The Lottery Man" will be the attraction for the first three days of the week.

Information was received here yesterday from Werba and Luescher's New York office that arrangements have just been made to include this city in the coming tour of "The Rose Maid" next month. Visitors to New York last summer all returned singing the praises of this latest operatic success which caused Broadway to forget other musical shows during its long run at the Globe Theatre.

Werba and Luescher are also producers of "The Spring Maid" which was so thoroughly enjoyed here earlier in the season. New York reviewers declared "The Spring Maid" prettier than its sister opera, "The Spring Maid," and music lovers are assured one of the finest treats of the season when the big company arrives.

"The Rose Maid" production is known to be one of the most pretentious given in light opera in years. The New York papers called its chorus a Rosebud Garden of Girls, who display an array of fashionable gowns to delight the female eye.

Music lovers are already familiar with the "Rose Waltz" which with "The Happy Family" song in which the sextette of "Kite Kiddles" do a lively act, are two of the big song hits of the opera.

John Cort is soon to produce a new play, "The Iron Door." The company will go into Chicago for a run and it is possible that Lima will be one of the few cities visited on the way from New York to the "Windy City."

No more grateful piece of theatrical news comes to hand than that "The Old Homestead" is soon to play another visit to the Faurot. This grand old play of Benham Thompson's never loses its charm for discriminating playgoers.

Joseph M. Gaites, whose splendid production of "The Girl of My Dreams" has twice delighted Lima patrons of the theatre will soon send to the Faurot, Victor Herbert's opera, "The Enchantress," with beautiful Kitty Gordon in the title role.

Richard Carle and Hatlie Williams, who were at the Faurot last Friday evening in "The Girl from Mont-Mestre," have been playing all week at the Grand theatre, Cincinnati.

The longest run of the current season in New York city for a musical play has been attained by "Oh! Oh! Delphine" at the New Amsterdam theatre, and for a dramatic play by "Millstones" at the Liberty theatre. Both are under the management of Klaw and Erlanger, and will soon reach their 200th mark. The lesson to be drawn is that it is always a good season for good plays.

The Misses Mahel and Edith Tallis-ferro will appear under the direction of Joseph Brooks in a new play by Cleveland Moffet in May. They will be the first sisters to star on the legitimate stage since the Bateman sisters in the early seventies.

"Don Hurst" with its beautiful stage pictures, its stirring action, and its deeply impressive story, is drawing the same enormous audiences as ever throughout the country and yet it is now in its fourteenth year.

To the present generation Joan Drew in Shakespeare will seem an entire novelty, but there are still playgoers who remember that during the early eighties Mr. Drew acted "Love's Labor Lost," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Much Ado About Nothing," and "The Merchant of Venice," in which Mr. Drew played "Tubal" to Edwin Booth's "Shylock."

No ambition has been closer to his heart than the desire to reappear in "Tenedor," but always the difficulty in the way has been the lack of a good "Beatrice." Mr. Charles Frohman has now put before Mr. Drew the names of two candidates, well known Frohman stars, either of which, on paper, at least, will make a perfect "Beatrice."

J. M. Barrie has all but finished his next play for Maude Adams, "The Legend of Leonora."

When Billie Burke finishes her tour in "The Mind The Paint Girl" next play, that play will have been performed three times as long in this country as it was in London.

"Little Boy Blue," which comes to the Faurot next Tuesday evening, closed its engagement at the Chicago opera house last Saturday night.

"The Old Homestead" soon to come to the Faurot, is in Brooklyn this week.

"The Master Mind" is the title of a new four act drama which was offered this week by Werba and Luescher at the Harris theatre in New York City. The cast, which is an excellent one, is headed by Edwina Breese.

"The Miracle," the greatest morning picture spectacle ever conceived, and which represents a speculation of $100,000, was presented for the first time in this country this week in New York by Al H. Woods and Aborn, grand opera impresarios. It the Messrs Milton and Sargent is said that no religion or creed can be offended by "The Miracle," which is even more vivid in its appeal than "The Passion Play." An orchestra of seventy-five pieces and a vested choir of 150 voices, form a vital part of the production.

Julia Sanderson is making a big hit in New York in her new piece, "The Sunshine Girl."

George M. Cohan closes the engagement of "Broadway Jones" at the Cohan theatre, New York, tonight, and will start on a tour of the larger cities. After next season, Cohan will be seen no more as an actor by the American public.

Otis Harlan, the leading comedian with Henry W. Savage's "Little Boy Blue" company at the Faurot opera house, Tuesday, February 25, has a story which he tells on himself. "I have an old college chum," said Harlan, who graduated in mechanical engineering. I hadn't seen him for a long time till we met on Broadway last summer. He told me he had been hunting me up and that he had a new invention that was a wonder. It was a turnstile. In fact, it was the very latest thing in turnstiles. New York has a lot of them, especially over Brooklyn way on the elevated railroad stations.

"The reason my old college chum was looking for me was because I was the only person he ever knew who had been foolish enough to go into the 'show' business. He thought I would be just the man to land his turnstiles in all the moving picture theatres, not only in New York City alone, but in all the suburbs, and there are some 'movies' in greater New York. He offered me the agency and explained the possibilities so fully and so well that I accepted on the spot.

"The next afternoon I started out with visions of big vacation commissions staring me in the face and figuring on what kind of a new automobile I would buy. The first moving picture man whom I visited told me that turnstiles were not such a novelty as I had anticipated, and in fact he knew more about them than I did myself. However, I drew out my economic figures which had been furnished by my friend and proceeded to show where I could save him seven hundred dollars a year on the doorman alone.

"I said to him, 'Do you know, I

MISS ANNA MAY In "The Lottery Man," Lyric Theatre, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday

can get rid of your doorman entirely with this wonderful machine." "Oh no, you can't," replied the moving picture proprietor. "But I tell you I can," I persisted. "Oh no, you can't get rid of that man, he's my father."

"I then and there decided that as a salesman I was a failure and went back to acting."

The Faurot's Pictures.
It has been some time since the Faurot has offered a picture program on Saturday, but it has one tonight that is a corker. Among the novelties to be shown are a rippling Nestor comedy, "When a Man Marries," a charming scenic picture, "The Tournament of Roses and a charming Imp photo play, "Hello Central, Give Me Heaven."

Sunday's program would not be complete without one of those favorite "101 Bison" features and the Faurot has it in their latest product, "The Song of the Telegraph." This stirring picture is in two reels.

"Little Boy Blue."
One of the truly genuine New York and Chicago successes, is "Little Boy Blue" originally produced by Henry W. Savage at the Lyric Theatre, New York, where it ran for six months. "Little Boy Blue" will be the attraction at the Faurot next Tuesday night. The book of this joyous operetta was written by Rudolph Schanzer, with music by Carl Lindan, and it was Americanized by A. E. Thomas and Edward Paulson. It has again met with instantaneous success everywhere on this, its first tour, which is planned to take it to the Pacific coast. It will be given here by the original cast, with but one important exception, and with the original production. Among those who will appear are Otis Harlan, Pearl Palmer, Maude Odell, John Dunsmore, Kathryn Stevenson, Franklyn Farnum, Charles Hines, Victor Kabin and Roland Hogue. There is an exceptionally fine singing and dancing beauty chorus, and a specially selected orchestra of grand opera proportions which is carried by the company, which is one of the largest and best now on the road.

Chiefly "Little Boy Blue" is a romantic relation with many humorous situations, and musical fundamentals to the finding of the lost heir to a Scottish fortune, estates and a title, to say nothing of the four-cornered love affairs. Oddly enough the plot is laid in Paris and starts on its merry melodic course within the four walls of the famous Bal Tabarin Cafe.

"The Fortune Hunter."
"The Fortune Hunter," coming back to the Faurot next Wednesday night for its first engagement since its big hit of last season, brings with it a record of almost two years unbroken success in New York and one year in Chicago. But it brings more than that. It brings a hundred and more delicious laughs, innumerable happy little lumps for your throat, and "The Fortune Hunter" is a sign post that points the way to all things in American life worth while—one of the brightest, cleanest, happiest comedies that has yet been written in this country.

Nat Duncan is, when the action opens, down-and-out. Incomptent, fired by his firm, he has drifted back to New York in time to find his old college chum, Harry Kellom, at the height of business success. Nat has tried everything, but a life of luxury has suited him for work and it seems to him that an open gas jet on the East River is all that is left for him.

FOUR YEARS AGO WE RECORDED A PREDICTION

THE PREDICTION

Reproduced from Cadillac Advertisement of December, 1908.

Ultimately the Cadillac will find its way into the hands of hundreds of owners who have heretofore paid twice and thrice as much money.

The deep-rooted conviction which these men naturally cherish—that there must be something lacking in the Cadillac to make such a price possible—is one which the Cadillac Company is eager to encounter wherever it can be found.

To meet and defeat that impression by practical demonstration during the ensuing season is of vastly more importance than the mere matter of sales.

The latter problem has been disposed of by a demand from dealers which has exhausted an output of ten thousand cars, and driven the factory to exert its fullest continuous capacity, night and day.

Of infinitely greater moment, as affecting the well-being of the Cadillac Company a year from today, and ten years thereafter is the establishment of the principle that a high-powered car, of the highest grade, can be built to sell at a popular price.

Stripped to the chassis and subjected to the jealous scrutiny of experts in material and in mechanics, matched part against part down to the last detail, with cars of known integrity sold at the highest market figure, the Cadillac will prove beyond question that such a car can be built at such a price.

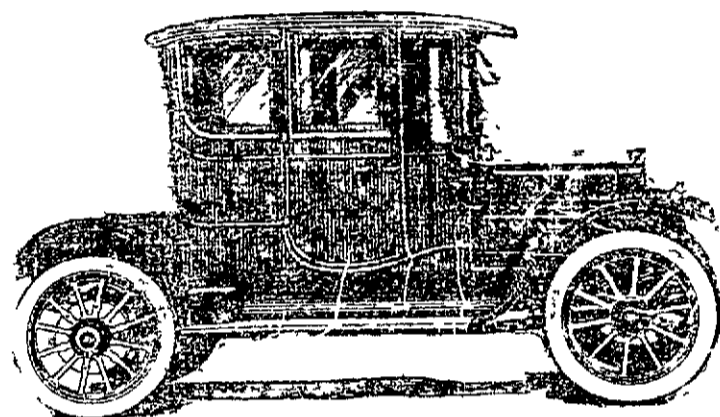

But your investigation proves that the Cadillac Company has made the impossible possible by heroic means and methods, will likewise demonstrate this, that:

HIGH-POWERED CARS EQUAL TO THE WORLD'S BEST CAN BE BUILT TO SELL AT A POPULAR PRICE IN ONLY THE ONE FACTORY WHICH IS FITTED BY EXPERIENCE AND EQUIPMENT TO UNDERTAKE THE TREMENDOUS TASK.

CADILLAC COUPE

The Cadillac Coupe is a worthy companion of the Cadillac Limousine. It is the leading car of its type.

The body is made of aluminum by the latest improved methods. There are accommodations for four passengers, two alongside the driver and one on drop seat in front. The driver's seat is hinged, permitting entrance at and exit from the right side of the car.

The upholstery is in hand buffed black leather, trimmed with broad and narrow lace. The ceiling, sashes, heel board, hood shelves and fender mouldings are American black walnut.

The side windows and door windows drop into pockets, the rear and front quarter windows are stationary. Glass is 3-16 degrees selected crystal plate, without bevel. Curtains are high grade silk tabs, operating on automatic rollers.

The lower portion of windshield is stationary clear vision—the upper portion swings outward.

There is a compartment for small parcels back of driver's seat and space for suit case, tools, etc., under rear deck, which has hinged door on rear, with lock.

The electric lighting equipment consists of two headlights, two side lights, and tail light, also dome light and speedometer light.

Doors are fitted with stop hinges of latest French design, permitting door to open at angle of 100 degrees, and equipped with improved Yale locks.

The lower panels of body are finished in Cadillac blue, upper panels and mouldings black, chassis and wheel, Cadillac blue.

Four years ago we foretold in our advertisements as reproduced in the appended column that:

Ultimately the Cadillac Motor Car would find its way into the hands of hundreds of hundreds of owners who had heretofore paid twice and thrice as much money.

You must be conscious that the prophecy is being fulfilled; that the "hundreds" predicted is being realized in "thousands."

The prediction was not made in a spirit of vainglory.

Nor is its realization recorded now with any sense of elation.

But the simple fact is interesting, and highly creditable.

Creditable, we mean, to the discernment of the American business man.

It is not easy to resist the glamor of the highest dollar mark.

It is not easy to believe that equal or greater excellence can be found at a lower price.

But that is precisely what has happened in the case of the Cadillac.

We felt four years ago that it must happen.

We were sure that no manufacturer could have higher ideals; or adhere more rigidly to those ideals.

The basis of a car's worth, of course, is the engineering practice and the factory practice which govern its construction.

That is the first excellence you strive to obtain when you pay the highest price.

And that was precisely the point in which the Cadillac was awarded world's precedence by the Royal Automobile Club of London.

We knew that in practice—CLOSE MEASUREMENT, STANDARDIZATION, ALIGNMENT, PROPORTION—the Cadillac was not an aspirant but actually a leader.

We knew, in other words, that it was not surpassed; and that it was not even equalled in that respect.

And we knew, too, that which went into the car could not be better.

We had no thought of emulating cars of higher price.

We were wholly engrossed in making the Cadillac the best of cars.

So, the fact that our prophecy has come true is an incidental, although an important result.

It has happened because we began with the positive conviction that—given a production of adequate size—no higher price than the price of the Cadillac was necessary for the highest type of motor car.

Surely your own Cadillac experience, the experience of every Cadillac owner in your community—and, indeed, of every Cadillac owner you have ever met anywhere in the world—justifies it.

The Cadillac is now the choice of thousands who were once wedded to cars of the highest price.

They have abandoned the recognition of the dollar-mark as the symbol of highest value.

It is one of the most interesting things that have occurred in motor car history—one of the most significant signs of enlightenment in buying that have occurred in latter-day America.

THE Cadillac is the Choice, not especially of those whose limit of investment is the Cadillac price, but it is the choice of thousands of discriminating motorists who place dependability, service and luxury above all other considerations and who can afford any car, no matter what the price. substantiation of this we mention one hundred Cadillac owners in Lima territory. Ask if they are satisfied.

MUST PERFORM SERVICE.

That Governor Cox is determined to have no figureheads drawing the state's money for work which they do not perform as members of boards having supervision over various departments and institutions was made apparent when he called upon the secretaries of these boards to furnish him the actual attendance of each member at board meetings for the last two years. He has begun a probe to ascertain whether all on the state's pay roll have the proper interest in the work they are employed to do.

SCHOOL DISEASES.

Children of school age contract
such diseases as measles, scarlet fever and diphtheria much more frequently than older persons. All that has been learned about the modes of transmission of certain diseases, notably diphtheria, indicates that the taking of a large number of children out from their restricted family and neighborhood relationships and bringing them into contact with a much larger group will increase the opportunities for infection. As regards opportunities for infection furnished by the school it must be admitted that while the state, the common drinking cup and the roller-towel are fast passing away, sufficient facilities for the transfer of disease germs still exist in the friendly exchange of pocket handkerchiefs, lip-moistened lead pencils, chewing gum and the like.
The school playground, as well as the schoolroom, must be considered in its bearing on the subject of school diseases. The significance of school attendance on the public health side lies not only in the assembling of children in a room, but also in the bringing into more or less intimate association a number of children who would otherwise not have met at all. Increasing the number of associates must necessarily increase the chances of infection.
Diphtheria and scarlet fever show a marked increase in the autumn
when the schools open and an equally definite decrease in the summer when the schools are closed.

The discovery of the part played by the healthy germ-carrier throws light on the probable origin of certain obscure cases of infection, says Prof. E. O. Jordan of the University of Chicago in a recent issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association. A child in a family in which a case of diphtheria exists may bear in its throat living diphtheria bacilli without manifesting any sign of the disease. If this child is allowed to enter school, a playmate may acquire the bacillus without in its turn becoming definitely ill. This second child, however, may take the germ home and pass it on to a non-school-going child in the same family who then may develop a typical case of diphtheria. Methods of control of school and institutional outbreaks of diphtheria are therefore coming to be focused on the detection and exclusion of the carrier. Disinfection of innocent chairs and tables and enforced school closure are in general found to be less effective than the discovery and isolation of the living bearer of diphtheria germs. When school attendance is regulated by bacteriologic findings school epidemics quickly subside.

A BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION.

A sample of democratic administration in the state house was given when the state treasury department was formally transferred to the new financial officer of the commonwealth, John P. Brennan. An examination disclosed a balance of $7,400,000 to the credit of the state, and not a single error was found to reflect on the department during the four years a democrat presided over it. Thousands of pieces of security and millions of dollars were handled during that time and all were properly accounted for.

Of the balance to the credit of the state $6,900,000 is drawing interest in banks distributed throughout the counties of the state.

During the four years of democratic rule, $625,000 interest was earned on deposits of state funds under a law that was enacted by a democratic general assembly after two republican legislatures had de-fected similar measures.

When the republican party, which "points to the past with pride" and "views with alarm" democratic rule was in power in Ohio these hundreds of thousands of dollars of interest went into the treasuries of favored banks, which in turn repleished republican campaign funds for this privilege of robbing the people.

BACK TO A BUSINESS BASIS.

Just as an example of what is going on at the state capital these days, take the administration measure offered this week which is designed to combine under a single management five departments having to do with the general subject of agriculture. The suggestion was contained in the governor's inaugural message. Little opposition of consequence is to be anticipated in the legislature.

The measure in question, prepared by the legislative research bureau, establishes a state agricultural commission of four salaried men who will take over the duties now performed by the board of agriculture, the state board of live stock commissioners, the state dairy and food commission, the fish and game commission, the board of control of the state agricultural experiment station and some of the duties of the board of pharmacy.

In other words, it is proposed to introduce business methods into the handling of this particular branch of the government service. The overlapping of authority and needless repetition work will be abolished.
The state will conduct its business as a competent industrial corporation would.

The situation which this measure

Government is constantly assuming new activities, piling one upon an-much thought as to whether they conflict or overlap. Finally there radical reorganization in order to get things back to a reasonable

CREATE SERIOUS VE-HICULAR PROBLEM
IN PARIS.

Comparison of Congestion
in Other Cities at Home and Abroad

FAVORABLE TO
UNITED STATES.

Woman Dressmaker Decorated With Legion
of Honor.

Doctor Bertillon Talks Interestingly on "Depopulation of France."

Paris, Feb. 22.—The vehicular congestion on the streets of Paris is greater than in any other city of the world, and in spite of the efforts of the municipal authorities, no way has yet been found to effect any permanent improvement in street conditions. The problem is an ever-present one and it grows worse every

GOOD ROADS COSTLY! THESE OFFICIALS BUILD 400 MILES OF BRICK PAVEMENT THAT COST LESS THAN NOTHING

Commissioners Elrick, Vall and Fisher; the kind of Road They Built. Map Shows Wonderful Network.

Four hundred miles of rural brick highway have been laid in Cuyahoga county, surrounding Cleveland, Ohio, during the last ten years. Good roads have raised the valuation of rural real estate in the county from $29,000,000 to $101,000,000, and the taxes on the increased value much more than pay the costs of the roads. Contracts for 110 miles of brick road have been let for the coming year although city and county now have more than 1,000 miles of brick pavement.

year, for Paris, strangled by the stone belt of the now useless fortifications, cannot expand, but must grow upward.

No such congestion of traffic exists
in New York, London, Chicago, Berlin or Philadelphia. The municipalities sent agents to all these cities to study traffic conditions, and to count the number of vehicles passing a given point on an important street in each city, between the hours of 7
a. m. and 7 p. m. This comparison shows that 33,323 vehicles passed down the Rue de Rivoli in Paris, 16,208 were counted on the Strand,
in London; 14,221 on the Potsdamer Platz, Berlin; 8,665 at Fifth avenue
and Fifty-eighth street, New York; 6,176 on Broad street, Philadelphia, and 5,736 on Sheridan road, Chicago.

Add to the large number for Paris
the fact that this city has some fifty and many tortuous streets, it would appear that the regulation of traffic in Paris presents difficulties unknown elsewhere. Eventually the congestion will become so great that new streets will have to be cut to relieve it; this seems to be the only solution.

The French government, upon the recommendation of the Minister of Commerce, has decorated with the Legion of Honor one of the leading women dressmakers of Paris. It appears the 4 1/2 per cent of the population of France is employed in garment making, and this industry is recognized as a great source of national wealth. The woman in question comes under the class of "captains of industry," and it is in recognition of her creative work in organizing her business that the government thus honored her.
The creative dressmaker in France is now protected legally if her ideas are stolen. She must, however, prove that her general idea, and not alone details of design, have been appropriated by a rival. To insure such protection a copy of all dress models, together with adequate descriptions, must be deposited in the French patent office. When this has been done she may bring suit for infringement of her "patented" dress.

In an interesting and lucid lecture before the Society of Friends of the University of Paris, of which M.
Raymond Polinac is president,
Doctor Jacques Bertillon has authorized at length the problem of the depopulation of France, its cause and remedies.

In 1815, said the doctor, the French amounted to 18 per cent of the civilized people of the world.
They now represent only 10 per cent, and against 50 million people who speak French there are today 120 million who speak German, and 150 million who speak English. This condition is becoming more accentuated, since in 1911 the number of deaths exceeded the number of births
in France, while in other countries the excess of births over deaths kept at an average of about 12 per thousand. Some people see a remedy in efforts to decrease mortality, but the doctor declares this method to be of little or no value.

What was wanted, he said, was an extra 150,000 births every year; the present deficit involved economical consequences of the most dangerous character. Malthus was quite wrong when he attempted to show that at life's banquet there was room only for a limited number of guests. The guests, explained Dr. Bertillon, were also cooks, contributing their share of the banquet. That is why people with a high birth-rate show a much more rapid economic advance than does France.

The consequences of depopulation are even greater in the realm of intelligence and culture. Technical and scientific works, whose readers are limited in number, but which, nevertheless, mark the essential condition of progress, are necessarily published in languages spoken by the greater number.

There are many factors responsible for the voluntary and dangerous limitation of families in France.
The growth of individualism among others plays a considerable part.
The Civil Code, which prohibits the free testamentary disposition of property, also favors small families.
This is clearly demonstrated by a little village in the outskirts of Dunkirk. According to the terms of a foundation dating from the seventeenth century, every family living within the village boundaries is entitled to 24 acres (about three-fifths of an acre) of land; the result is that births exceed deaths by 44 per cent.

Instances of the birth rate being heightened by judicious legislation are numerous, notably in Bavaria and Roumania, where by the suppression of some of the vexatious formalities attending marriage the ends of births were gained every year.

The doctor would like to see the public taught to honor and favor large families instead of subjecting them to mockery, as is so often the case nowadays. He recalled that M. Poubelle when Prefect of the Seine, would not employ any officeholder unless he had at least three children. He also thought that every mother who had four children living should be entitled to a grant of $100. This would, no doubt, involve a large sum of money, but it must not be considered as money expended, but rather as a displacement of capital, the beneficial result of which would soon make itself felt.

commonly recognized advantages real estate mortgages, you get the expert service of men who have successfully managed one of the largest financial institutions in the victi-for the past 25 years, loaning all funds on first mortgages. Not a dollar is loaned without personal praisement and expert examination of the title. The property in eve-

Soft And Clinging Fabrics For Drapery

Borders of Plush, Open Work and Bulgarian or Servian Motifs

New York, Feb. 22.—Women who take advantage of the winter season, when social gaiety is at a low ebb, to plan their summer clothes, will appreciate a description of the new materials and a few suggestions for their development. All fabrics which lend themselves well to drapery will be approved this season, for drapery is now a recognized feature of the fashions.

These materials are soft and clinging and may have either dull or glossy finish as one likes best. Velvet and crepe, beautiful fabrics of imported and home production, which not only laundry well but retain their folds and lines without crushing or getting out of place, will be much used. They are to be had in white and all the fashionable shades of the winter months which promise to remain good for another season, yellow, sulphur, biscuit, citron, chalk, practical beautiful textures. For the woman of distinction in dress the or and fabric was rather offered greater opportunity. With white as the main groundwork, there is a fascinating variety of outline, tracery and embroidery. The inevitable girde, mesh or belt affords ample opportunity to strike an individual note. This may be carried out in the soft Balcan silks, Roman stripes, Golden blue or moire velvet ribbons. The graceful costume illustrated on the second figure was developed in figured silk lace brocade effect to which was done by the block-printing process described above. It combines in its bandings moire velvet ribbon. The groundwork of the silk is white and the blossoms are wild roses with dark green leaves. The ribbon banding harmonizes in coloring with green of the leaf. The waist has loose blouse front, dropped shoulder and short sleeves. A band of ribbon encircles the neck and edges the slashed sleeves. The skirt, with its fashionable front drapery, has a band of blue moire extending from the waistline to the bottom of the skirt drapery. In the back it may be tucked or gathered as preferred. Only at the hem for the coming season does the silhouette of the dress remain unchanged. This will be slender, the tendency being to narrow rather than broader lines. The skirt drapery naturally makes the garment wider at the hips. To be sure, when soft material is used, which is almost invariably the case, the quantity of material is not evident. Gathers and narrow tucks appear at the waist and considerable fullness in the front of bodice, which is inclined to blouse both front and back. Sleeves, whether long or short, follow the lines of the arm. They may be set in the regulation armhole or have the deeply extended shoulder. Both will be equally fashionable. Smart Russian jacket effects will be in first fashion. They may be made on cutaway or square lines.

putty and oyster. They may also be had in many new shades, butter yellow, salmon and roseleaf pink. An unusual method of developing broadened effects renders the broadens inexpensive and quite as effective as though wrought in the weaves. It is done by means of block prints, stamped on the material both in variegated colors and monotonous and on either a white or colored ground.

Sometimes the design is stamped only on the border. Especially is this the case when the more bizarre Oriental colorings, rich red, blues and greens, are used either in Persian, Bulgarian or Servian motifs. When the motif is more subdued, and of French origin in Louis XV or XVI style, it is carried over the surface of the fabric. But besides the new printed borders, fancy stripes of rough weave are also seen on these crepe and velvets. The open drawn-work border both on these materials and on linen and cotton is very pleasing and perhaps one of the most attractive of this form of decoration. Borders of plush, of loosely-knotted chenille threads, resembling French knots, of staid designs in curiously wrought motifs and gay colorings, are all to be seen on the new summer fabrics. Very dainty is the dotted crepe rock shown on the first figure. The ground of the material is white with small blue circular spots. A large lace collar with graduated extension fronts trims the purple waist. Cuffs of lace finish the elbow sleeves. The left side of the skirt is caught up in folds from waist to the side-back in the fashionable draped effect. It is cut in two pieces and has a front inset piece, but this inset may be omitted if preferred, in which event the front pieces may either fall straight or be slightly cutaway. Among summer fabrics, now being developed for fashionable Southern resorts, silk Bedford cord is having an unusual vogue for smart semi-tailored afternoon suits. This fabric comes in a variety of shades, both pastels and decided tones, but white is, perhaps, the most beautiful and the most generally favored.

Poplin, too, in silk, wool and cotton, is very attractive and comes in plain weave, moire and brocade effects. Whipped and heavy bengaline are also often used. A material introduced last fall, known as velvet de laine, will be much in fashion for the very early spring. This soft, silky, woolen fabric has been somewhat supplanted during the past few months by the rich satin and charmeuse broadens, but is coming into its own again with an acclaim that shows the feminine mind really ap-

For young and slender girls, and for the woman whose figure is very slender, the full jacket, gathered or pleated, is very attractive. Less slender women will wear the jacket or pelum cutaway and only slightly gathered, or else quite close fitting. The bolero with the back in one piece from neck to hem, and the front terminating at the waist line, will also prevail. This effect is very smart and charming when fashioned on fine lines of a man's evening coat. Many have the tails long, almost to the hem of the skirt, and are square or squarely cutaway over the hips. Others have a one-button closing over the bust, the lower section sloping away in graceful curves to terminate in a short pelum five or six inches below the waistline in the back.

GOVERNOR FAVORS PLAN

To Complete State Hospital
as Speedily as Possible.

HE WANTS THE GROUNDS IMPROVED

Trip Convinced Legislators That Appropriation Was Necessary.

As a result of the visit of Governor Cox and the members of the house and senate to the Lima State Hospital yesterday afternoon, there is a bright prospect that the required fund to complete and equip the mammoth institution in accordance with the original plans of the trustees will be provided by the present state legislature.

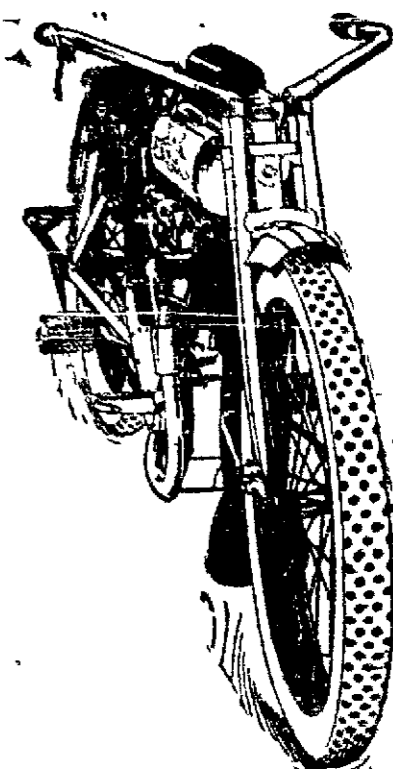

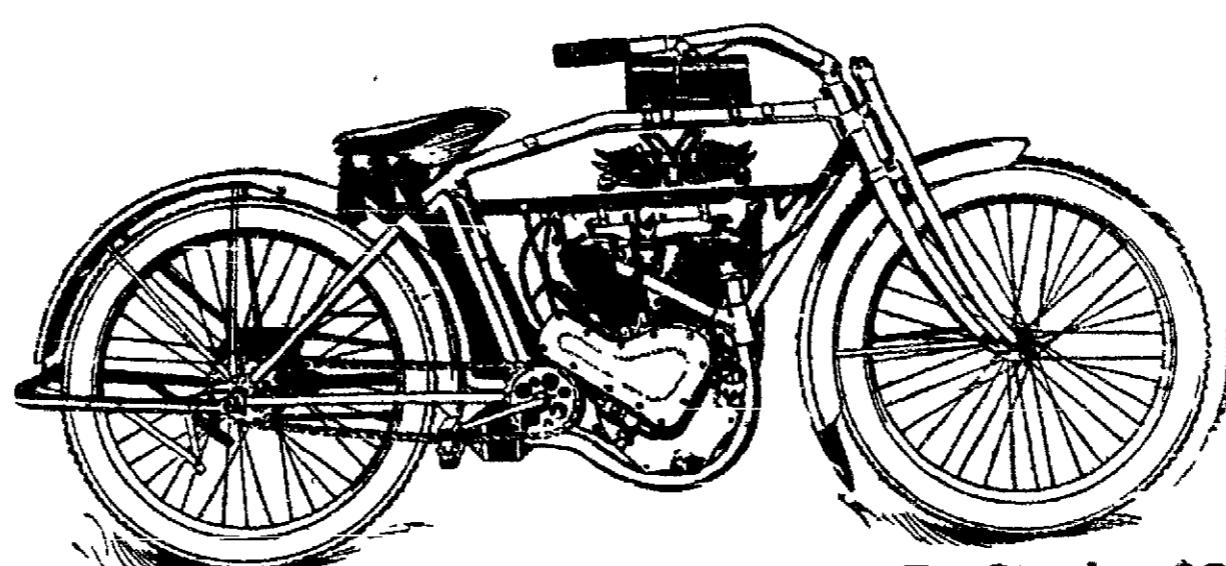

Both Governor Cox and the legislators expressed themselves in no uncertain terms as being in favor of completing the hospital with the utmost dispatch after an hour's trip of inspection through the big institution yesterday afternoon. The necessity of relieving the other state institutions from their congested condition by removing the criminal insane to the new hospital was patent to all, while the advantage of having the inmates cared for as soon as possible so that they could assist in the completion of the buildings and grounds was also urged.

Led by the governor, who was the livest wire in the party, the party traversed every inch of the way through the big hospital from the boiler room to the main buildings through long corridors, passages, and rooms, and back to the starting point, where the party boarded the waiting automobiles and were whisked back to the city.

Governor Cox proved to everyone that he is thoroughly in touch with the needs of the state institutions, and he kept Chairman Hoskins of the board of trustees and Architect Frank Packard busy answering questions throughout the entire trip through the hospital building.

Wants Grounds Beautified
Hardly had the governor gazed out upon the vast expanse of barren soil and leafless trees until he began to ply the trustees with questions as to the plan to beautify the grounds.

You'll Sell The Yale To Yourself

There isn't going to be any trouble about that. You'll sell the Yale to yourself the first time you see it. You may drift away to look others over—but we feel certain you'll come back. And you'll come back, we believe, because there are some things about the Yale you won't be able to forget. And you'll want these particular advantages. The first of the things about the Yale which you won't be able to forget is the way the Yale "sizes up." Let somebody show you a machine of shorter wheelbase—a lighter, less substantial machine than the Yale and one of less impressive proportions. Then see if you can dismiss the Yale picture from your mind. Study a moment what that Yale longer wheelbase means in easier riding; what the sturdy proportions mean in strength and repair economies; what the over-sized tires mean in comfort.

Then try to tell yourself that a motorcycle without any of these factors would answer just as well. You can't—and we don't believe you'll even try. You were meant for the Yale; and the Yale for you, if it's size, strength, service and substance you're looking for.

Go ahead—look around as much as you like. But keep in mind the mechanical features listed above. You'll join the Yale family in the end just the same. Meanwhile send for the Yale booklet and catalog, so you may read the full Yale story. Use the coupon below or merely send a postal-card.

to what was being done towards beautifying the grounds. He recommended that an expert landscape gardener should be secured at once to make the surroundings more attractive, and seemed relieved when he was told that this matter had already been given careful attention by the board. It is the ultimate plan to make the entire 610 acres a joint park and model farm.

The governor also interested himself greatly in the financial end of the plant, and seemed curious to know whether or not the $500,000 asked for would complete the plant. Chairman Mooney and Cowan, of the senate and house committees on finance respectively, agreed with the governor that the plant should be completed with the utmost dispatch as it was needed by the state just as soon as it could be completed. As a matter of economy to the state the institution should be completed as soon as possible, they thought.

After an hour spent in carefully viewing the mammoth plant Governor Cox emerged with dust on his clothing, muddy shoes and a crushed hat, but he still retained the affable disposition and the propensity of asking questions that he possessed when he entered the boiler room an hour before.

Visited Elks' Home.

Upon his return from the hospital, Governor Cox and a number of his party were shown through the beautiful Elks' Home by Representative Ray, Kennedy, of this county. Refreshments were served by Steward Nye in the main dining room. Governor Cox is a member of Dayton lodge and congratulated the local membership on the beautiful home that had been erected in this city.

From the Elks' home the governor and his party were shown through the main factory of the Deisel-Wemmer cigar factory by Henry Deisel Sr., in whose car the governor made the trip to the state capital.

At 4:30 o'clock, the governor and his party left Lima for Van Wert in a special car over the Ohio Electric railway, where he attended a banquet given in honor of the farmer boys who entered the corn growing contest last year. The special car bearing the party passed through Lima again at 6:00 o'clock on its way to Springfield, where the governor was billed for another speech before returning to the state capital.

ly stated that he believed the amount asked for $25,000 was a little too high. However he told them that he would sign the bill which has been introduced by Representative Kennedy in the event that it passes the legislature.

The members of the executive committee who met the governor included William Rusler, Daniel Harpster, William L. Mackenzie, Dr. George Hall, Walter B. Riddle, R. R. Zuerchly, Rev. M. C. Howes and Mesdames W. L. Mackenzie, D. J. Cable, R. L. Bates, J. O. Ohler, Clara Brotherton and C. W. Holthister.

Leaves Four Children, 12

Great Grandchildren.

Mrs. Nancy Ann McClane one of the pioneers of Northwestern Ohio died at noon today at the old family homestead in what has been called the McClane settlement three miles south of Lima. She was the wife of David McClane, who survives her. She was born June 28, 1815 and was therefore in her 78th year. She was the daughter of James McDonald and grew to womanhood upon her father's farm which was within the present city limits and lay south and west of Market and McDonald streets. On June 9, 1844 she was married to David McClane. The young couple began life upon a virgin tract of land near the present home place. There they erected a log cabin which, as they jokingly expressed it, had only one window from it through the chinks in the logs. By their combined industry they accumulated a competence. She was a life long member of the Methodist Episcopal church. To them were born four children, three sons and one daughter, all of them living. They are William J. McClane, Lanzo McClane, Cloyd McClane and Mrs. Cora Davis all of whom live near the old home except Cloyd who lives east of the city. Twelve grand children and eleven great grand children survive.

For approximately two years following a stroke of paralysis she had been in poor health. The last sickness began on the 17th day of February. Death resulted from gradual breakdown incident to old age.

No burial arrangements have been made except that the burial will be at Shawnee cemetery in the family plot. Definite arrangements will be announced later.

BEAUTIFUL LIMA CLUB FORMALLY OPENED TODAY

Elegance and Grandeur
Of the Interior.

LAST WORD IN BUILDING ART.

Nothing in the Entire State

Lima Club.

Appointments Are Easy,
While Arrangements
Most Convenient.

Elegant in its appointments and unexcelled in the convenience of its arrangements, the new club home, the Lima Club, erected at the corner of West Market and McDonald streets at a cost of $100,000, was formally opened to the gaze of an admiring throng this afternoon. During the afternoon, hundreds of invited guests were shown through the beautiful building, which is to become the retreat of the city's influential business and professional men for years to come.

The Lima Club is the last word in the building art, and is without doubt the most handsome and modern structure of its kind in the state. On all sides, the expression was heard that the members had wisely built ahead of the times, and that no matter how phenomenal might be the growth of this thriving city during the coming decade, the Lima Club would stand as one of the most interesting and pretentious in the city.

Whatever impatience has been felt because of the unlooked-for delay in the culmination of a project that had its beginning almost two years ago was entirely forgotten this afternoon as the members of the club gazed with admiration at the interior of the building that will be their home from this on. Not the slightest detail that would make for the comfort or pleasure of the membership has been overlooked in the construction and interior arrangements, and with it all is a touch of elegance and grandeur that more clearly emphasizes all the features that combine to make it an ideal club home.

Failure of contractors to carry out the terms of their contracts and the unusually disagreeable winter of last year which impeded building operations, served to postpone the formal opening of the club over a year longer than was first anticipated, but in spite of the handicaps that had been imposed upon the officers of the club and the building committee, they have today turned over to their fellow members an institution in which every citizen of Lima shares a paramount pride with the members of the club, which is located at the southeast corner of Market and McDonald streets, is three stories high, of stucco exterior finish. A broad veranda extends almost the entire front of the building, furnishing an ideal retreat for the members from the noise and stir of the business district during the summer season.

Description of Interior.

Entering the wide doorway at the front of the building, one is ushered into a beautiful reception hall, on either side of which is a large and commodious lounge room. The northwest room on the first floor in the main lounge room, finished in white oak, natural finish, of colonial design, with the large beam ceiling effect. A huge fireplace has been built on the west side of the room, lending charm to the interior, while the room is exquisitely furnished with mahogany chairs of varied styles.

Opposite this room on the other side of the reception hall is the library, which is admirably fitted for the use for which it was intended. This room also has a large fireplace, while the furnishings and draperies enhance the beauty of the interior.

Half-way along the reception hall is the public office of the club, fitted throughout with the necessary articles of office furniture. At the north end of the office is a marble stairway leading to the second floor, in the northwest corner of which is located the gentlemen's social hall. In this room there is a standing size billiard table, a piano, lounge chairs, etc. To the west there is a small writing room, equipped with a number of small writing desks, while in the extreme northwest corner of the second floor is located the trustees' room.

Ladies' Quarters. In designing the club, arrangements were made whereby the ladies' quarters in the club could be separated entirely from the gentlemen's quarters, if it were so desired. The ladies' entrance to the club house is on McDonald street, leading to a small reception room on the first floor. Leading from this room is a private dining room, which has no connection with the other dining rooms, where private parties or afternoon teas can be given without disturbing the club life. In one corner of the ladies' reception room is a stairway leading to the ladies' room on the second floor, which is separated from the men's quarters by large folding doors. This room is fitted for card parties, receptions, or entertainments of any kind. Adjoining the main room is a number of dressing and retiring rooms.

Guests' Rooms. Another feature of the Lima Club not included in any other club house in the city, are the guests' rooms, of which there are three in number, located at the south end of the second floor. These rooms are finished elaborately with brass beds, mahogany dressers, and all else required to complete a perfectly appointed guest room. These rooms will be for the use of guests of the members who remain in the city over night.

Elegant Dance Hall. Probably the feature of the building that called forth the most favorable comment this afternoon was the elegant ball room on the third floor, with its adjoining dressing rooms for the women and smoking and lounge room for the men.

The dance hall is located in the extreme north end of the building, and occupies the full width of the building, east and west. It measures 30x60, with an arched ceiling that adds much to the attractiveness of the ball room. The walls and ceilings are treated with a delicate gray, with sprays of roses at each end. Rich mahogany colored window hangings are an attractive feature of this room. Permanent seats of white are set along the wall, with a cozy corner to the right of the entrance to the ball room.

Space for the orchestra is reserved along the south side of the room, the floor of which is raised above the ball room floor.

To the south of the ball room are the ladies' dressing and retiring rooms, gentlemen's smoking room, and ladies' and gentlemen's check rooms.

Main Dining.

The main dining room of the club is located on the first floor of the building to the rear of the office, and has a seating capacity of about one hundred. A specialty will be made of the business men's luncheon at noon during the week, while the a la carte service will be maintained throughout the day. The kitchen is located at the extreme south end of the building on the first floor, and is large and roomy. John Hammond, an expert chef from Covington, Ky., is already in charge of the culinary department, and will prepare his first dinner this evening.

In the basement below the main dining room is the rathskeller, for the use of both ladies and gentlemen. Small tables, capable of accommodating four each, are arranged in order about the rooms while to the north are three small booths, also seating four people each.

Further to the north, is the barber shop, which will be operated throughout the day and evening. Opposite the barber shop is the pool room and bowling alleys. Three pool tables and one billiard table and two bowling alleys, all entirely new and just recently installed, are included in this room.

In the basement are also located the store room, heating plant, cold storage and refrigerator plants, all of which are thoroughly modern and designed to meet the requirements of the club.

Entrance to the rathskeller can be made from the side-door at the east side of the building without using the main entrance. The house committee has been laboring indefatigably to have the club house in shape for the reception this afternoon, and the finishing touches to the place were put on this morning. The electrical fixtures, which are a feature in themselves, were thoroughly tested this morning, and found to be in perfect condition, as were the heating and plumbing fixtures and appliances.

Music was furnished this afternoon by an orchestra of eight pieces, while the guests were treated to light refreshments of fruit punch and wafers.

A special dinner will be served at 6 o'clock this evening, which will be open to members of the club and their guests. From the reservations made at noon today, it is altogether probable that the capacity of the various dining rooms will be taxed this evening at the first dinner served in the club house.

Officers of Club. The present officers of the club are: President, Arthur L. White; vice president, Don C. Henderson; secretary-treasurer, E. L. Kirk; trustees, A. L. White, D. C. Henderson, E. R. Curtin, W. J. Hammer, J. E. Galvin, E. B. Mitchell and J. P. King.

The house committee is composed of J. P. King, chairman; C. D. Crites and W. J. Booth. While the formal opening of the club is being held today, the club has actual possession of the building for the past week, as everything was moved from the old club house at the corner of High and Elizabeth streets one week ago today. Only a few minor details remain to be attended to before all arrangements are completed.

The trustees of the club have engaged the services of an expert steward from Chicago, Herman Hemmigen, of Chicago, who has had charge of the club house for the past month or so. Mrs. Hemmigen, his wife, will be stewardess, and will occupy living quarters in the club house.

The building committee, who have had charge of actual building operations since the first steps were taken, is composed of E. R. Curtin, C. F. Lufkin and J. R. Sinclair.

The New Maid. Mrs. Brown-Jones (which isn't her name at all, nor nothing like it) has a new parlor maid. Last Thursday was Mrs. B. J.'s day at home. Six callers were at the door, and each proffered her card.

Hilda looked the cards over carefully one by one. "Those ladies are all wrong!" she decided finally. "One of your tickets is for Mrs. Choseph Thompson, one for Mrs. Miller, one for Miss Chenks and Miss Mabel Chenks—and den dere's three odders, all wrong names, set 'em next door. Goodbye!"

Then she went back to her mistress. "None of 'em wanted to see you," she beamed. "Deir tickets was for odder houses. I guess maybe dey ain't lived here long!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

herited rare musical ability from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Davis. When only four years of age, as little Mayme Davis, she was a certain attraction on every program.

As years have gone by, her talents have not been hidden, but have been used to give great pleasure wherever she has appeared.

Seldom have women been gifted with so many talents as Mayme Davis Hahn, for she excels not only as an organist and as a violinist, but also has a large class in voice. She plays one of the best organs in Cincinnati, fills many concert engagements and is president of one of the most exclusive clubs, the Matinee Musical, in the Queen City.

She will play a delightful caprice by Lemare, some numbers by Schubert and of course, will be forced to respond to numerous encores.

Assisting Mrs. Hahn, will be a baritone, Mr. J. Manning Pendrey, who recently sang for their music club and gave such pleasure that he was engaged for another recital. Mr. Pendrey will have three numbers on the program. He will sing "Vision Fugitive" by Massenet, "Thus Saith the Lord" from the Holy City by Gaul, and a third selected number.

Mrs. Hahn writes: "Mr. Pendrey and I are looking forward with much pleasure to our Lima concert."

Each member of the Woman's Music club has for this occasion the privilege of bringing one guest free and must present her ticket at the door. Other music lovers who will wish to hear this splendid program, filled with such good music, will be admitted at the usual price of fifty cents. Gentlemen will be very welcome.

Miss Ruth Jane Kerr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kerr of 329 west Market street, will be married Saturday evening, March 1, at six o'clock, to Mr. Ernest Harlow Hyter. The ceremony will be celebrated at the Kerr home and will be witnessed by relatives of the two families only. Miss Helen Kerr will come from Mount Vernon seminary, Washington, D. C., to attend the wedding of her sister. Miss Elhel Recker of Ottawa, a relative of the bridegroom-to-be, will spend the coming week with Miss Kerr. Rev. Thomas Knox, pastor of the Market Street Presbyterian church, will receive the vows and pronounce the benediction in marriage. The young people will reside at 505 west Market street. The wedding is of much social interest, the bride-elect having always held an enviable place in the hearts of a large circle of friends, where her many womanly graces are much appreciated.

Mrs. J. D. S. Neely of 620 west Spring street, will be hostess for the Colorio circle, entertaining at her home, Tuesday afternoon.

A group of ladies, who enjoy some delightful evenings over their needlework, are known as the Ladies' Embroidery club. Mrs. C. R. Phillips of 706 east Kibby street, will be hostess for the coming week, entertaining at her home Wednesday evening, when several guests will be included.

The Round Table will hold their regular weekly meeting Monday afternoon with Mrs. (Dr.) Beauchamp, of 112 south Pierce street. The leaders will be Mrs. F. B. Lewis, in charge of the sixth and seventh history lesson on Australia, and Mrs. E. B. McGinnis, who will have charge of the lesson, the second chapter of the April magazine.

Judge J. N. Hutchison and Miss Helen Hutchison were in Healdsville, Monroe county, this week, in attendance at the funeral of the venerable mother of Judge Hutchison.

Mrs. Otto Hoffman opened her home, Tuesday, for the regular meeting of the Bible class, which is taught by Mrs. Eva Crope.

Mrs. Warren J. McLaughlin, of west Elm street, was the charming hostess for the Portright Bridge, Wednesday afternoon. Spring flowers made the rooms more festive and Mrs. W. L. Mackenzie, Mrs. Chauncey F. Lufkin, Mrs. N. D. Keys, Mrs. Earl Swan, Mrs. King of Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Frank Mitchell, of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. J. P. King were invited to play with the members. Mrs. M. S. Thompson secured the club prize, when the efforts of the players had been enumerated, and Mrs. McLaughlin's mother, Mr. King, was awarded the guest prize. At the small tables used for playing, a delicious two-course luncheon was served, with the advent of the twilight hours.

The hospitable home of Mrs. Harry S. Moulton, of 919 west Market street, was opened for the entertainment of the Arbutus club, Monday afternoon. No formal program was prepared. All members taking part in the discussion of current events. Tea and cakes were served at the close of the afternoon. Mrs. Warren J. McLaughlin will entertain the club, in a fortnight.

Much interest is manifested in the appearance of the Western Reserve University Glee club, which will be brought to Lima under the auspices of the Civic League. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the children's play grounds and for such a good cause that every one will wish to attend, not taking into consideration that the club has a high standing in college musical circles of the state. The concert will be held in Memorial hall and Thursday evening, March 20, has been selected as the date.

An interesting meeting and a good attendance characterized the first gathering for study of the Lotus club, Monday afternoon, since meetings have been held apart from the Arbutus club. Mrs. I. S. Motter of west Spring street, was hostess. Three splendid papers were given. Miss Florence Campbell told of Jean Jacques Rousseau; Mrs. O. B. Selfridge gave a paper on the French Revolution and Mrs. Winters gave a sketch on the Balkan war. Music was also a feature of the afternoon. Mrs. R. L. Bates' guest, Mrs. Stanley Bawle of Cincinnati, was privileged to meet with the club. The meeting in a fortnight will be held with Mrs. Harry MacDonald of west Spring street.

Mrs. John Cable and little daughter, Alice Mary, and Miss Etel Cable were at Van Wert the middle of the week, where they were entertained by Mrs. Cable, who is a relative.

Mr. Richard A. Shappell, choir director at the First Baptist church, has arranged a delightful program for Sunday evening, at the church, the occasion being the regular monthly musicale. A very cordial welcome is extended to members and their friends, as well as the music lovers of the city. The following program will be given:

Prelude, "Pilgrim's Chorus"—Wagner. Miss Rae Heffner. Violin Solo, "Romance"—Wieniawsky. Miss Vera Watson. Baritone Solo, "Fear Not Ye"—Protheroe's "Song of Hope." Mr. Richard A. Shappell.

Offertory, "Evangelium"—Johnston. Miss Heffner. Anthem, "The Lord is Exalted"—West. Choir. Anthem, "Abide With Me"—Baraby. Choir. Postlude, "Sortie"—Henry Dunham. Miss Heffner.

In the anthem work, Mrs. J. R. Melly, Mr. George H. Metheany and Mr. C. E. Thomas will sing the solos. Rev. Franklin Stiles, the pastor, will have for his subject, "Getting Attuned to God."

The Entre Nous club will be entertained by Mrs. T. A. Welsh, of 843 west Wayne street, Thursday afternoon, with cards and a luncheon as features.

The Wilmadoughs circle paid a visit to the home of Mrs. George V. Guyton, of north Collett street, the early part of the week, and extended her daughter, Miss Frances Guyton, a bride of the week a miscellaneous shower. Several guests accompanied the club ladies. They took with them baskets of dainty articles of foods and a delicious supper was served, before their departure. Miss Guyton was remembered with a large number of articles which will go to furnish her new home and keep fresh the memory of her friends in Lima. Mr. Winters and his bride left Friday for their new home in Fort Wayne, after a short visit at the Guyton home.

Mrs. Gwen Jones Pence of 519 west North street, will be hostess for the Philomathean club, at the regular meeting, Monday evening. The meeting, scheduled for last Monday evening, with Miss Fannie Hughes, was dispensed with, no meeting of the club being held.

The meeting of the Amity club, which was scheduled for Monday afternoon with Mrs. Harry E. Stout of Elizabeth street, has been postponed on account of sickness and no meeting will be held for a fortnight.

Mrs. John W. Roby left today for Delaware, called there on account of the painful accident which befell her mother, Mrs. J. W. Curran, while endeavoring to descend a flight of stairs at her home. Mrs. Curran fell, breaking her limb. Friends of Mrs. Curran will deeply sympathize with her in this accident.

A large attendance of women tested the capacity of the Market Street Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon, when the regular missionary meeting was held. Mrs. Thomas Knox conducted the devotional exercises. Miss Lillian Johnston sang "On the Road to Mandalay"; Miss Edna Pate played the national air of Burma and Mrs. Marguerite Zender gave a love song of India. Then followed the introduction of a former Lima woman, Mrs. N. W. Cunningham of Bluffton, who last year returned from a trip around the world and returned with even more enthusiasm for missionary work than she had before going, feeling that only where the Bible is found would any woman care to live.

In Mrs. Cunningham's talk on missions in the Orient, she spoke briefly, but to the point as to the situation in Japan, saying America missed its opportunity to Christianize this country twenty-five years ago, when it wanted this help and would have taken it. At present the Japanese are full of conceit over their achievements in war and otherwise are not ready for our help. Every boy in Japan is being daily trained by army officers for warfare and not for peace. Mrs. Cunningham said she believed that Japan eventually will become Christianized, but not for years.

The speaker thought China is now where Japan was twenty-five years ago and we have now the opportunity to Christianize them and the question is, "Will we realize this and do this work?"

India was the principal topic of the speaker, being a country so thickly populated and the people of so many castes that it is a very difficult problem. She said the work was progressing, for only where the missionaries have been and are at work are conditions bearable to an American. Speaking of the constant fault-finding because the work was mostly among the lower classes, she told of one earnest worker's reply, "Christ saved the lower classes; why shouldn't we also?" They became useful people by being Christianized, convincing these travelers that the work was very much worth while and much needed in this land which, while under British rule, is so powerful that many frightful superstitions still prevail and nothing but Christianizing will save them.

Tea was served by the committee in truly oriental atmosphere fraught by rare rugs and hangings and an occasional palm, effectively placed.

Mrs. John Roby, president of the City Federation of Clubs, announces the following committees to have charge of the work for the ensuing year, the committees representing the clubs and societies which are members of the City Federation. Mrs. Roby is planning a most enthusiastic twelve months and judging from the way she has inaugurated the campaign, much will be accomplished. The following represent the list of committees and the various departments:

Europe in June, for a vacation before taking up her new duties. Her many Lima friends will wish her success in her new field of work.

Miss Pauline Wemmer and Mr. Fred Gooding will be married Wednesday, April 16. Much social interest centers in this announcement. While details have not yet been fully completed, it is likely the ceremony will take place at the home of the parents of the bride-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. William Wemmer, of 616 west Market street, and will be a large social affair.

The Girls' Embroidery club, which holds meetings weekly, dispensed with their gatherings this week. Next Wednesday afternoon Miss Pauline Wemmer will entertain the club, at her home on west Market street.

The Ideal club enjoyed a delightful afternoon, Thursday, at the home of Mrs. T. C. McClure, of north Collett street. It was in the nature of a farewell meeting, for Mrs. McClure soon goes to Canton, Ohio to make her home. Her leaving is much regretted by members of the club. Invited guests were Mrs. Louis Hoffman, Mrs. George McClure, Mrs. Hick and Mrs. Hayes. Mrs. Linn, a sister of the hostess, who was also invited, furnished delightful vocal numbers. At the close of the entertainment, a delicious two-course luncheon was served. Mrs. McClure being assisted by Mrs. Fred Koch, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Linn.

Lima women may be slow in awakening to the semi-delinquent girls in our midst and should know that recently in Toledo, at a meeting of the federation of women's clubs, Mrs. T. W. Warner, wife of a large manufacturer, spoke on "The Problem of Toledo's Semi-Delinquent Girls." Among other things she said: I am a member of the Maternity hospital board and also of the Young Women's Christian Association board, and I know that girls from our high school go to the maternity hospital. A niece of mine attended this school and I took her out because I did not wish a member of my family to obtain her education amid such surroundings. While we are talking of delinquent girls, let us not forget that two thousand of our school children, young people who are in the formative years of their lives, are surrounded by vice every day.

Both Chicago and Toledo have of late been confronted by a condition in their high schools that is most alarming, both boys and girls in each place becoming victims of a drug habit undermining them mentally, as well as physically, and now it is high time that the women of the cities awaken to their responsibilities.

Miss L. Brouillette, a graduate of the Marienello School of Chicago, will arrive in Lima Sunday and Monday will take a position with Miss Catharine O'Brien at the Marienello parlors, on east North street.

The seventeenth birthday anniversary of Lester Bartlett was celebrated Tuesday night at his home at 223 north Elizabeth street. With games and music, high school students passed the evening most pleasantly. Supper was served at 10:30 o'clock. Among the young people who were privileged to be present were Misses Caroline Prophet, Helen Klinger, Lucille Slicer, Pauline Bowman, Drusilla Line, Gladys Seebers, Marie Kelly, Flora Gilbert, Myrtle Bowman and Messrs. Fred Tharp, Clayton Pfeiffer, Frank Marklin, Mildred Hoover, Wilda Gillette, Mildred Quail. Contests and music formed the enjoyment of the later part of the evening. Those privileged to attend were Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Stone, of 930 east High street, gave a pretty children's party Tuesday for her son, Charles Stone, Jr., who had reached his eleventh birthday. Cut flowers and greenery formed decorations in the rooms and when luncheon was served, the table was supplied with the birthday cake and candles indicating the number of years the little host had attained. Eleven boys and girl enjoyed the occasion with Master Stone.

Mrs. M. G. Zimmerman, of 703 north West street, entertained at dinner Wednesday evening, having for guests, Mrs. G. A. Fisher, Mrs. A. G. Lutz, Mrs. A. Zimmerman and Mrs. D. Miller. The evening was passed, following dinner, in a social way.

Mr. and Mrs. Parmenas Ireland have announced that Wednesday, April 2nd, will be the date of the wedding of their daughter, Miss Foreste Ireland, to Mr. Guy F. Bayly, of this city. These two young people are among society's favorites and the occasion of their wedding will call forth much in a social way. After a honeymoon the young couple will settle in Lima, in the pleasant little home that Dr. Bayly has built for his bride on Lakewood avenue.

The banquet, tendered by the Progressives to their husbands, Tuesday evening, was one of the most delightful in the history of the club. The four-course menu was served by Misses Bowers, Winna Neuman, Mildred Hoover, Wilda Gillette, Mildred Quail. Contests and music formed the enjoyment of the later part of the evening. Those privileged to attend were Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Hotchkiss, Mr. and Mrs. George Quail, Mr. and Mrs. Winemiller, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. and Mrs. M. J. Lumbagh and Mrs. Joseph Cassidy, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cherrick, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, Mr. and Mrs. H. find, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace L. Mr. and Mrs. James Meeker, Mr. Mrs. Bowers and the hostesses.

At the February meeting of Loyal Women of Olivet Presbyterian church, held with Mrs. Kate N. 320 west Vine street, an interesting account and lessons from the Lincoln was given by the Rev. Mr. Malone. In the musical program, Mrs. Gasser, Mrs. McKi Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Malone a quartette and Mrs. Gasser and McKinnon gave a piano duet. Ladies donated to the church the amount of $12.50 worth of gifts, gathered as a result of efforts. Mrs. Emans is president of the society, Mrs. Brennenmarty and Mrs. Phillips are the officers. The next meeting will be held Mrs. Jones, about the middle of March.

Mrs. Orla B. Yancy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Yancy of C and Mr. Arizona L. Bennett, of Montezuma, Ohio, were married Wednesday evening at the home of the officiating clergyman, Thomas Weyer of 324 north street.

Mrs. Lloyd Sherrick of 421 1/2 Collett street, will entertain the Progressives, at the regular meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The Ladies' Social club of United Commercial Travelers met Friday afternoon at 5:45 with Mrs. Scott McGinnis of 546 Wayne street.

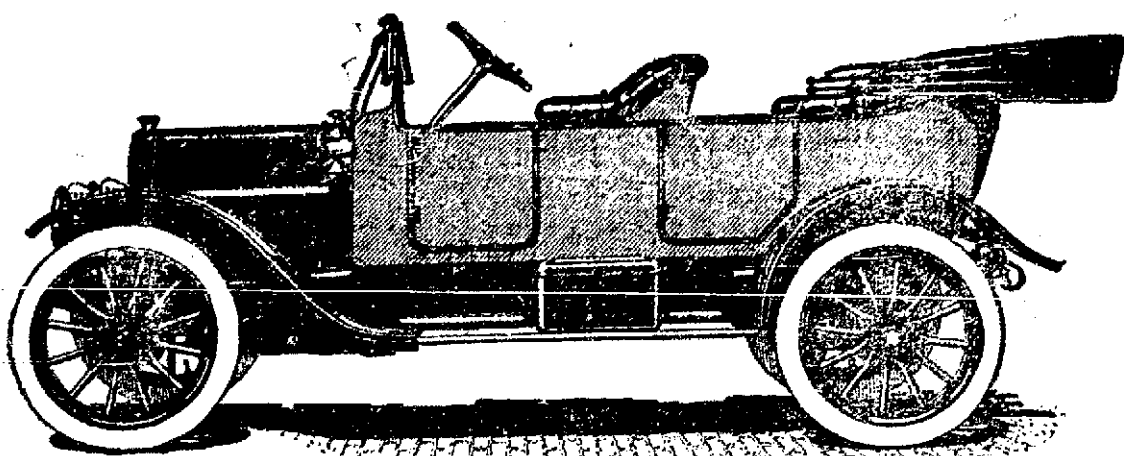

60 years have seen the Studebaker business grow from $65 to $65,000,000.

Time always tells the truth.

Studebaker

50,000 Studebaker Automobiles will be sold this year.
Your order must be placed soon if you want one.

Quality in an automobile, as we have already said, depends upon the workmanship. The workman must depend to a certain extent upon his tools. If we were building a $5,000 car we could not buy more expensive or better machinery. We could not employ more skillful labor than we do. We could not require higher standards for accuracy. In fact, we do not know how we could improve any of the vital parts of our cars. If we did, we would do so. We have an immense factory which covers nearly forty acres. Our sixty-five years in the manufacturing business has given us—first, unquestioned manufacturing experience; second, financial resources sufficient to enable us to provide every mechanical facility known to the art of building quality motor cars.

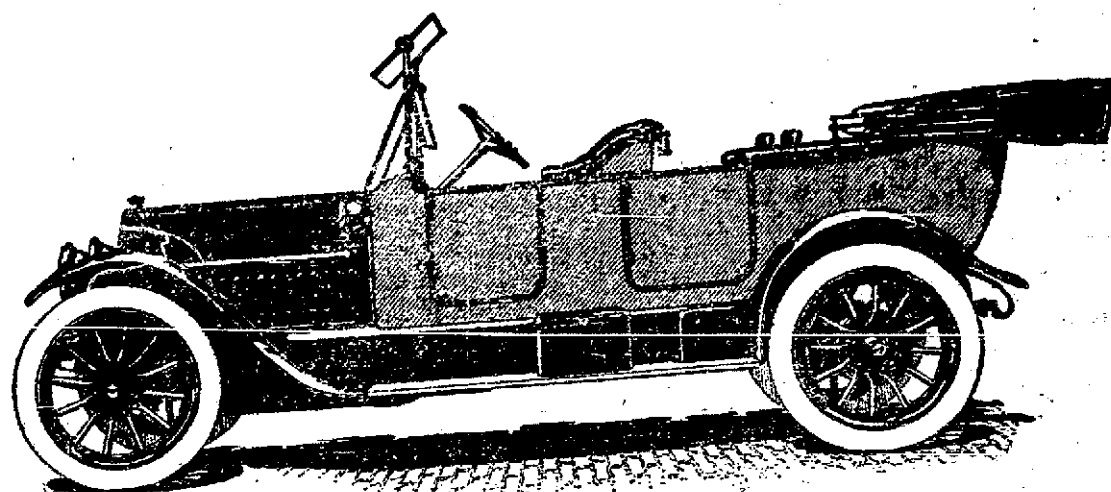

Studebaker "25"—102 Inch Wheel Base

$885

In proportion to its weight of 1,750 pounds, the "25" has extraordinary power. For ease in handling, "roadability," we do not believe it is surpassed by any car at any price.

Here is a car that the company has made wonderful improvements on, both in appearance and convenience, as well as the wearing qualities.

This little Studebaker promises to be one of the most popular cars among the lower priced machines. If you want to buy a car that is in the lower price and still retain the qualities, you can't do better than select a "25."

Studebaker "Six" Touring Car—Fully Equipped

In the Studebaker "Six" you will find the six-cylinder automobile at its best. It has the smooth, even, masterful power which six cylinders insure. To drive it is to realize the highest reach of motor refinement. It is immediately responsive, instantly answering the driver's control and always it furnishes resistless, uninterrupted power. It will be worth your while to look this car over, even though you are not just ready to buy. See it at the show.

$1,550

The company has 60 branches and distributors and 3,000 dealers, covering every important country in the world.

You can never get out of reach of Studebaker service.

E. H. HAWISHER

DEALER

Over 35,000 new Studebaker cars had been sold to dealers before the first car reached the show room.

Such is public confidence in Studebaker Automobiles.

MANY ATTRACTIONS FOR THIS HOLIDAY

BIRTH ANNIVERSARY OF GEORGE WASHINGTON.

Entertainments Were Held in the City Schools Yesterday.

PUBLIC MEETING AT MEMORIAL HALL.

Lima Club Will Entertain Many Guests at Their Open House.

Following the long established custom, and in keeping with the provisions of the statute making this anniversary a legal holiday, in a great many lines of business the inner working is quieted out of respect for the "Father of the Country." The banks of the city are to be closed today, there will be but one delivery of mail in the residence districts, a large number of private institutions will grant from a half day to a complete holiday, and all will be in keeping with the general prevalent intent of the anniversary. Owing to the fact that this anniversary of the birth of Washington falls upon Saturday, the usual extensive programs that are carried out in the schools were somewhat hindered. However in some of the schools the teachers arranged their programs for yesterday afternoon entertainments were produced before the eyes of admiring relatives and friends.

The usual display of flags, bunting, and like specimens of the liberty decorations are distributed about the town, but the dreariness of the weather, the prevailing tendency toward rain, and the general unpleasantness of the fore part of the day put a crimp in their extravagant display.

The program for the day throughout the city is quite full. There are many private affairs, dinners of large and small, club meetings, card functions, and many other informal affairs. The Memorial hall in the afternoon, and the new Lima club in the evening, will be the real centers of the entire attraction.

At Memorial Hall.

As previously announced, at one o'clock this afternoon the meeting of the citizens was called to order at the Memorial hall for the further discussion of the proposed repair of rebuilding of the Allen county court house. This, the second of the meetings of this sort, will be very largely attended. Much good, and a very good indication of the direction of the tide of public sentiment will be given. Two weeks ago at the court house, though a great many were present, there was but little representation from the mercantile class, as Saturday their attention is devoted to their business. Today being a holiday, they will in large part be at liberty to attend.

The Lima Club.

The really large social affair of the day will be the grand opening of the new Lima Club house at the corner of Market and McDonald streets. This building has been in the process of construction since May of 1911, and a great deal of time, skill and money has been expended in its construction. Up to date there have been but few who have been privileged to see the interior of the New Club, and all wait with great expectancy. There have been a great many invitations sent to the citizens of this and nearby cities for the reception that will be held from 7 o'clock to five and from seven to nine. To all the members of the organization there will be a special dinner served from five to seven o'clock. It is expected that the interior of the new club will be a revelation to the eyes of most Limaites.

ADA LOST TO B.W.C. GIRLS

Fast Basketball Game Last Night Netted Lima a Victory.

L. H. S. GIRLS LOST TO BLUFFTON TEAM

Absence of Graham Handicapped Locals. Priest the Star.

In a fast game at the Business Women's club gym, the Wheeler hall, last evening the team of girls representing the Lima club took a striking victory from their opponents, the star team from Ada. There was no time in the game when there seemed to be any danger of the Lima girls losing the game, but there was throughout a determined effort on the part of the visiting team to come back, and making a spur, overcame the lead of the locals. This was impossible, and the Lima girls carried off the honors.

The victory last evening was the fourth straight win for the Lima girls. They are playing as well as their basket shooting was of a No. 1 calibre. If it were possible to pick out any stars of the contest, one would be forced to choose Misses Boegel and Wyatt, the Lima forwards, for their work was the most spectacular. However, the consistent passing of the other members of the team to them, and the excellent manner in which they were supported made their playing possible.

The Lima high school girls in a game against the girls' team of the Bluffton high school went down to defeat at the nearby town to a score of 11 to 4. The absence of Miss Graham, one of the strongest players of the Lima team from the line-up last evening, was a serious injury to their team. Florence Priest was the star for the Lima aggregation, and it was she who succeeded in scoring the only two baskets which the Lima girls made.
